

I note that although I subscribe to cable service for my network connection, I am charged a monthly fee of $6.00 by Bell Soth, my telephone service provider for "FCC charge for network access (A charge to recover costs associated with connecting to a telecommunicattion -- network). Should I be required to pay this?